

METHODISTS HAVE ANOTHER BUSY DAY

Reports From Various Missions in Utah Are Optimistic in Tone.

SPLENDID ADDRESS
BY REV. DR. TALBOTT

Think of Tomorrow, Not Yesterday,
Bishop Says to Followers.

Small in numbers, but earnest in purpose and representing a great movement, the Utah Methodist mission held its second day's session at the First Methodist church, Friday. Bishop Brierley presided over the gathering with a brief address. The business of the morning consisted in passing the characters of the members and hearing reports of the work.

The Rev. H. J. Talbott, superintendent of the Salt Lake mission, gave a report of the mission, as a whole, which was encouraging to the cause of Methodism in Utah.

The Rev. C. L. Anderson of Beaver, gave a report of the work of his church. He emphasized particularly the accomplishments of the Methodist academy at Beaver. He said that the school was flourishing in spite of the opposition of the Mormon school in the same community. Two-thirds of the pupils came from Mormon families, he said.

The number of pupils was doubled the year and the prospect is for greater growth in the future. It has advantage over the Mormon school in that it is accredited by the best colleges of the country, and its diplomas entitle entrance into the freshman years of these colleges.

The Rev. Samuel Allison of Eureka, reported an increase in membership and collections during the past year. He reported prospects for the future. The Rev. J. H. Martin of Park City, reported a church as struggling for a foothold in a community largely Mormon. Logan is 90 per cent "Mormon," he said.

The membership of the Methodist church is drawn from the "sinners," he said that he heard a bishop remark at a recent mission that he was longing for a chance to have a fair fight with the Mormon. He would spend three years in Logan and would have ample opportunity to prove his trust in God. The minister believes, however, that the small band growing in influence and he is optimistic for the future.

Conditions at Ogden.

The Rev. G. W. McCreery of Ogden reported his collections as being doubled the past year over the year previous. The church consists of 300 members, all having a spirit of cheerful helpfulness in all their efforts.

The Rev. C. L. Martin of Park City, reported a church in good condition. The Rev. E. P. Nields of Price, reported that his church was organized last December and had 100 members in its first year.

women missionaries of getting into the "zealots" or homes of the rich women, of which Miss Montgomery told, was to teach them fancy work. The lesson in fancy work is always accompanied by a Bible lesson.

The poorer women are more accessible, since they have to go out to help make a living for their families and can be approached on the streets. The children are brought into schools and in the training of the little ones, the missionary ladies hope for the future salvation of the country.

The English railroads, in putting all passengers on an equal footing, are helping to break up the idea of caste, according to Miss Montgomery.

Address of Bishop.

Bishop Joseph P. Brierley delivered a fine address at the First Methodist church Friday evening on "The Wesleyan Movement of Yesterday and Tomorrow."

After dwelling on the glories of Methodism of the past, the bishop said: "But it will not do to linger upon the remembrance of the past. One of our chief dominical tendencies is to live too much in the past. We must not think of yesterday, but of tomorrow. A new era confronts us. There are new opportunities, new difficulties, new burdens and new possibilities of success or failure."

"My programme for tomorrow's Methodism contemplates a progressive church. Methodism has been a providential movement. Changes have been numerous and radical. Obsolete conservatism has no place in its history."

"In my programme for tomorrow there must be uncompromising loyalty to the bible. There is scholarship which comes to the bible with uncovered head and unsanctified feet and an eager desire for the most reverent investigation. Such scholarship seeks rather to confirm than to unsettle faith. The church has been and is blessed with such scholarship and the more of it the better. But there is another class who are not content with the bible. Their efforts to cast aspersions on the bible truths remain the same."

"I have an idea that in the programme for tomorrow that Methodism will be closely related to the social and industrial issues which now menace the republic. John Wesley was a Christian socialist. His sympathies for the unfortunate were aroused while he was yet a student at Oxford. Years after, when his foundry was secured, a portion of the great room was furnished with benches and desks for a free school. Another was arranged for a book store, where publications of all useful kinds could be had for a nominal sum. Still another part of the building was used as a dispensary, where the poor came to receive aid and medicine. An experienced surgeon was employed and within a few months 500 patients were cured. Then followed the loan society and employment bureau. In the presence of the pressing needs of the common people, Mr. Wesley laid the foundations of the institutional church, and demonstrated the fact that a church can be foremost in evangelistic endeavor and at the same time carry on multiplied agencies to relieve the distress of the unfortunate."

The bishop then brought out how social unrest might be overcome by up-to-date Christianity. He took the position that the church should be identified with all social and political reforms, not as an organization, but as to individual membership.

"BURY HATCHET" AND FORGET FIGHT

of California spoke on "Right Use of Resources." He is now at the University of California, where he is studying for a degree in the art of conservation.

A large part of the Japanese government exhibit at the fair is given in pictures of reclamation of lands by tree planting. Professor R. S. Homer spoke on "Conservation in Hawaii."

Advance notice that a fight may be expected on the floor of the National Conservation congress tomorrow was served by ex-Governor George C. Pardee of California this afternoon, when he informed the convention that the committee on resolutions would be unable to report at the opening of the morning session tomorrow and asked that when the report is submitted, time be allowed for discussion. "There will be a majority and a minority report," said Governor Pardee. "and I want to speak now for time to carry the contest to the floor of the convention."

The prospect of hostilities was so pleasing to the delegates that they voted to give adequate time for discussion when the report of the committee on resolutions is submitted.

Contrary to expectation, the Pinchot-Ballinger controversy is not the cause of the present dissension. The pending contest is over a resolution, similar to the water right resolution adopted at the Spokane irrigation congress, favoring government of power sites.

Stand of Minority.

The majority of the committee, according to the reports brought from the committee room, favor adopting the Spokane resolution, while three members are advocating that the government permanently relinquish its hold on power sites to applicants for water rights.

Governor Pardee and the other members of the majority objected to permitting outsiders to discuss the question before the committee, whereupon the minority members declared that they would carry the fight to the floor of congress. It was in order to prepare congress for the fray and marshal the forces of the upholders of the policy of government conservation of water power sites, that Governor Pardee has his statement to the congress this afternoon.

MORE DRASTIC LAW FOR PURER FOODS

Pledge Given by State and National Organization in Convention at Denver.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS ENDS IMPORTANT MEETING

Belief That Preservatives Are Not Necessary Expressed and Strongly Urged.

DENVER, Aug. 27.—Pledged to urge every state in the union to work for more drastic pure food laws, the annual convention of the Association of State and National Food and Dairy Departments, adjourned today after electing the following officers:

First vice president, Dr. Lucius P. Brown, Nashville, Tenn.

Second vice president, Andrew French, St. Paul.

Secretary, Dr. W. M. Allen, Raleigh, N. C.

Treasurer, James Foust, Harrisburg, Pa.

Executive committee, Dr. Charles D. Woods, Orone, Me.; Dr. S. J. Crumline, Topeka, Kan.; and Dr. A. N. Cook, Vermillion, S. D.

New Orleans, La., was selected for next year's meeting, the date to be decided later.

Secretary Wilson, although an interested spectator as he called himself, today was called upon frequently to untangle puzzling questions. He tonight for Rawlins, Wyo., from which place he will continue on a month's tour of western states.

Taking a view differing from that of the Kansas reference board, manufacturers before the convention of the Association of State and National Food and Dairy Departments today argued that benzoate of soda is no longer necessary as a food preservative.

"In fact the manufacturers are coming to the belief that no preservatives at all need be used," declared one speaker. "The public seems to be arriving at the same conclusion. Why should we have chemicals in our foods if by processes of sterilization and refrigeration they can be done without? While the government, through the reference board, has been carrying out its experiments to show that benzoate is not harmful, a great many manufacturers have been experimenting to show that food can be put up without chemicals at all."

A paper on "The Need of State Laws to Protect the Consumers' Meat Supply," was read by Miss Alice Lakely of the National Consumers' league, Cranford, N. J., was read by Mrs. Florence Kelly of New York City.

THE WYOMING G. A. R. banner, which the color bearer claims he left with two boys at the blue room, was found disappeared. The color bearer is looking for the boys with whom he left the banner.

JUDGE MORSE'S division of the third district court Friday, judgment by default for $679.50 was entered against K. Takatsuka in favor of E. D. Hashimoto on a promissory note. The litigants are Japanese.

JAMES McETERNAY, who was operated on at the Holy Cross hospital last week, suffered a slight relapse Friday evening. His condition, however, is not such as to cause worry to his many friends.

TOTAL BANK CLEARINGS for Friday, August 27, were $912,628.40, as compared with a total of $974,982.05 for the corresponding day of a year ago. The increase, therefore, is $62,353.65, or an excess of 25 per cent.

IN JUDGE MORSE'S division of the third district court Friday, Rieger & Lindley, liquor dealers, were given judgment by default against L. Covington, Charles Roper and Burton H. Seager for $206.41 for liquors furnished the defendants while they ran a saloon at Birmingham.

RUSSELL BARKHEAD, formerly of Salt Lake City, but now of Fresno, Cal., is visiting friends in this city. Mr. Barkhead is accompanied by his wife and they will be located for several weeks at 31 West First North street. Mr. Barkhead is a prominent member of 21st B. D. O. E. of Fresno, Cal., and is also a member of division 412, O. R. C.

RESIDENTS and property owners along Third street, between Fourth and Fifth West streets, have filed a complaint with the city recorder for the council's consideration of the condition of the street there. The thoroughfare is so full of water that it is almost generally impassable, they say. They ask for the filling in of the street at once.

A. C. NELSON, superintendent of public instruction, has been invited by the teachers of the eastern part of Idaho to address them when they assemble in their annual association at Pocatello next week, and Mr. Nelson is making arrangements to go to Pocatello next Wednesday and Sunday, as a subject of which he has not yet decided on.

MORGAN AND THOMAS J. DAVIES, doing business under the name of Morgan Davies & Son, are suing Cynthia A. E. Pence in the third district court for $229.35, alleged to be due for plastering a house in lot 1, block 4, plat 16, Salt Lake city surveys, August and November of last year. They also demand $25 attorney fees, interest and costs.

ors of the board of public works and questioning the judgment of members of the board to appoint competent inspectors, has been such a hobby of his that he seems to have become daffy on that subject. Just why he wants all this in his own hands is a matter of conjecture. He has become so bitter because of his failure to persuade the legislature to play his game and his failure to secure any considerable endorsement from active Americans that he antagonizes every one who refuses to see as he would have them see.

After shamefully mistreating one of his most faithful employees, he discharged him last week and lied about the reason for so doing.

Even if Kelsey were thoroughly competent he is unfit to continue in the office because he is so blindly unfair to those who do not yield to his importunities or his will. And it will be a great relief to thousands of persons in Salt Lake to know that, if not sooner, Kelsey will hit the toboggan a few months hence.

In Hotel Corridors

MR. AND MRS. J. D. MOORE of Green River, Wyo., were guests at the Wilson, Friday.

R. S. SPENCER, one of the leading attorneys of Evanston, Wyo., is a guest at the Knutsford.

ALLAN MONROE and Vernon C. Bogy, two well-known commercial travelers of Kansas City, were at the Knutsford, Friday.

L. B. WIGHT, city attorney of Park City, came down from camp Friday, and will remain several days looking after his interests here.

R. S. OLIVER, a prominent mining man of Bingham, was in Salt Lake, Friday, on a brief business visit. He registered at the Knutsford.

JEROME PAXTON, an employe at the First National bank in Park City, is a guest at the Windsor. Mr. Paxton is accompanied by his wife and baby.

ORSON RYAN, superintendent of schools at Heber City, Utah, was in Salt Lake, Friday, attending to business matters in connection with the opening of the schools. Mr. Ryan is stopping at the Cullen.

C. B. BARNES, who, for two months past, has been acting as the temporary night clerk at the Knutsford, and who in that time has made many friends by his pleasing hospitality, leaves on September 1 for Los Angeles, where he will probably locate.

A. C. ADAMS and wife of New Haven, Conn., are in Salt Lake, Friday. Mr. Adams is the master mechanic for the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, one of the well-known lines of the New England states, and with his wife, is on his way to visit the Seattle exposition and the northwest cities.
